HEL 4 pieces set Stainless Steel brake lines disc brake (S2000 99-09)

Description

Fully stainless steel brakelines from HEL.
The HEL brakelines features Stainless steel braided lines and couplings (Many other brands use zinc plated fittings which are at risk from corrosion)

On every mile of every race track the importance of high performance precision braking control has been proven. Total feel and response give you the confidence you need on the road.
The difference between an average driver and a great driver is those who can control speed and those who cannot. Speed is nothing without control and it's a very fine line - Which is why HEL Performance only supply very fine lines.

Each HEL Performance brake line kit is assembled in-house from the finest quality stainless steel fittings swaged directly to hard drawn tensile stainless steel braided hose.
HEL Brake line kits eliminate that 'spongy' feeling often found with rubber hoses under extreme braking conditions - the time when performance is needed the most. By replacing the original rubber hoses with our complete system you will remove this sponginess and your braking will deliver new levels of precision. Don't risk using inferior brake lines when you can trust us to improve braking reliability and performance.

-HEL brakelines expend less than the OEM rubber ones
-Reduces braking distance
-Sharper and More Responsive Braking
-Eliminate That Spongy Pedal Feeling
-FMVSS-106, ADR, LTSA, DOT en TUV approved
-Lifetime Warranty
-Also usable in combination with OEM big brake kits
-Perfect fitment on the OEM brackets

This kit contains 4 brakelines for the front brakes and rear disk brakes
